Specifically, the relocating party must notify every other individual who has custody rights to the children by certified mail, return receipt requested. The notice must then comply with the following requirements:

Notice must be sent no later than:

- (1) The 60th day before the date of the proposed relocation; or
- (2) The 10th day after the date that the individual knows of the relocation if the individual did not know and could not reasonably know of the relocation in sufficient time to comply with the 60 day notice requirement and it is not reasonably possible to delay the date of relocation so as to comply with the 60 day notice requirement.

If any of the aforementioned information is not known when the notice is sent but is later made known to the party seeking relocation, then that party shall promptly inform every individual who received notice.

If the non-relocating parent objects to the proposed move he/she must do so by filing the counter-affidavit with the Court and the other party within 30 days. The notice of objection to the opposing party must be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested. If no objection is made in the manner set forth above then it shall be presumed that the non-relocating parent has consented to the proposed relocation and the Court will not accept testimony challenging the relocation in any further review of the custodial arrangements.

The Court shall hold an expedited full hearing on the proposed relocation after a timely objection has been filed and before relocation occurs. The Court may permit relocation before a full hearing if the Court finds that exigent circumstances exist.

7. Enumerated Offenses; 23 Pa.C.S.A. §5329

*(see Criminal Record Verification for included offenses)

Neither party has any convictions or pending charges for an offense enumerated in 23Pa.C.S.A. Section 5329, or an equivalent offense in another jurisdiction, nor have they been found to be abusive by a Children and Youth Agency or by a Protection from Abuse Action. Both parents filed their Criminal Record/Abuse History Verifications confirming the same.

Defendant has a conviction/charge for an enumerated offense and Defendant DOES pose a threat of harm to the Children and shall not have custody rights until Defendant completes the following treatment:

8. EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES:

Each party shall provide the other with reasonable notice of school or other activities whenever possible.

The parties are directed to honor and participate in the activities in which Children wish to engage. Neither parent, however, shall commit Children to any activity unless Children definitely desire to attend that activity. Once of age, participation in activities which take place during the school year is contingent upon the Children maintaining passing grades in school. During the times that the parents have custody of Children, they will make certain that Children attend any extracurricular activities. The parties are directed to be supportive of the activities and will timely transport Children to and from preparations, practice, competitions, and other related events, so that the Children are able to participate in those events.

Neither parent shall commit Children to activities that fall on the other parent's period of custody without the consent of the other parent. Consent shall not be unreasonably withheld. If Children are involved in an activity which occurs during both parents' periods of custody, both parents shall cooperate in providing transportation of Children to the activity. However, the custodial parent shall not be required to take Children to that activity if the custodial parent and Children are out of town for a previously scheduled vacation.

In the event that the custodial parent is unable to deliver Children to the particular activity, the parent who has custody of Children at that time shall notify the non-custodial parent, who shall be entitled to pick up and deliver Children to the designated activity. The custodial parent shall make certain that Children are ready for pickup in time sufficient to enable Children to timely attend the activity.

9. DISPARAGING REMARKS:

Each of the parties, and any third party in the presence of Children, shall take all measures deemed advisable to foster a feeling of affection between Children and the other party. Neither party shall, nor shall either parent permit any third person to, do or say anything which may estrange Children from the other parent, the parent's spouse or relatives, or injure Children's opinion of the other party, or which may hamper the free and natural development of Children's love and respect for the other parent. This includes, but is not limited to, posting derogatory or negative comments about the other parent on social media websites.

The parties shall not use Children to send verbal messages to the other parent about the custody situation or changes in the custody schedule. The parties and their significant others shall conduct themselves civilly at all custody exchange, as well as at any time when together in the presence of the Children.

10. FINANCIAL CARE OF THE CHILDREN:

In the event that a significant matter arises with respect to the medical care, education, or financial care of Children, such as a change in occupation, health insurance, educational expenses, or residence of a party, those matters shall be discussed with the other parent before any change is made by either parent.

11. MUTUAL CONSULTATION:

Each party shall confer with the other on all matters of importance relating to Children's education and social adjustments. Each party is directed to keep the other informed of his or her residence and telephone number to facilitate communication concerning the welfare of Children and the custody situation. Each party shall supply the names of any individuals residing within the household, as well as the name, address, and phone numbers of any person in whose care Children will be for a period in excess of seventy-two (72) hours, and for each person or entity which may provide daycare for Children, excluding current daycare providers, relatives, or public school institutions.

12. ILLNESS OF THE CHILDREN:

In the event that the parties share legal custody of the Children, emergency decisions regarding Children shall be made by the parent then having custody. However, in the event of any emergency or serious illness of Children at any time, any party then having custody of Children shall immediately communicate with the other party by telephone, informing the other party of the nature of the illness or emergency so the other parent can become involved in the decision making process as soon as practical.

The term "serious illness" as used in this Order shall mean any illness or disability which confines a Children to bed for a period in excess of seventy-two (72) hours and which places a Children under the direction of a licensed physician.

13. WELFARE OF THE CHILDREN TO BE CONSIDERED:

The welfare and convenience of Children shall be the prime consideration of the parties in any application of the provisions of this Order. Both parents are directed to listen carefully and consider the wishes of Children in addressing the custodial schedule, any changes in the schedule, and any other parenting issues. However, neither parent is to discuss custody disputes with or in front of Children, or permit others to discuss custody issues and disputes within hearing distance of Children.

The parents shall permit and support Children's access to all family relationships. Special family events such as weddings, family reunions, family gatherings, funerals, graduations, etc. shall be accommodated by both parties with routine visitations resuming immediately thereafter. Each parent shall have the option of proposing time or date variations to the other parent when special recreational options or other unexpected opportunities arise. Each parent must confer with the other parent before arranging regularly occurring extracurricular activities for Children which might interfere with regular visitation.

14. SMOKE / DRINK / ILLEGAL SUBSTANCES:

No party shall smoke in any part of a confined area with Children present nor shall either party permit another person to smoke in any part of a confined area with Children present. No party or members of parties' household shall drink alcoholic beverages or consume illegal substances when Children is present in the home, and no party or member of parties' household shall be under the influence of alcohol or illegal substances when Children is present in the home.

15. MODIFICATION OF ORDER:

The parties are free to modify the terms of this Order. In order to do so, however, both parties must be in complete agreement with any new terms. This means both parties must consent on what the new terms of the custody arrangement or schedule shall be.

If both parties do not consent to a change, it does not mean each follows his or her own idea as to what he or she thinks the arrangements should be. The reason this Court Order is set out in detail is so both parties have it to refer to and to govern their relationship with Children and with each other in the event of a disagreement.

16. RELOCATION OF THE PARTY:

Relocation is defined as a change in the residence of the Children which significantly impairs the ability of a non-relocating party to exercise custodial rights as outlined in 23Pa.C.S. §5322. No relocation shall occur unless every individual who has custody rights to the Children consents to the proposed relocation or the court approves the proposed relocation. If a party seeks to relocate, that party shall notify every other individual who has custody rights to the Children. Both parties must follow the statutory requirements contained in 23 Pa.C.S. §5337.

If the non-relocating parent objects to the proposed move, he or she must do so by filing the counter-affidavit with the court and the other parent within thirty (30) days. The notice of objection to the opposing parent must be sent by certified mail, return receipt requested. If no objection is made in the manner set forth above, then it shall be presumed that the non-relocating parent has consented to the proposed relocation and the court will not accept testimony challenging the relocation in any further review of the custodial arrangements.

If timely objection has been filed and before a relocation occurs, the court shall hold an expedited full hearing on the proposed relocation. The Court may permit relocation before a full hearing if the court finds that exigent circumstances exist.

We (Plaintiff and Defendant) intending to be legally bound and waiving our rights to be present when this agreement and order are presented and executed, hereby stipulate and agree that it is in the best interest of the Children for the Court to enter this Stipulation as an Order of Court. We further agree that there has been no fraud, concealment, overreaching, coercing or other unfair dealing by either of us during the preparation of the Stipulation and Agreement.
